

I strongly opposes this extremely anti-consumer idea. If this is implemented it will elminate fair use copy provisions, and in the long run harm the networks. Given the choice between being forced to watch it the moment it's broadcast, or not watching it at all I'll elect not to watch it.